The News has made a special effort this week, and in this issue advertisements appear from nearly all the leading businesses of the city. Read them, see the opportunities offered, and plan to be in Red Deer on Saturday.

GOOSE EGGS IN FALL

Elias Vincent, Horn Hill, has a goose that lays eggs in the fall. Last year this particular goose laid six eggs. This fall it laid ten eggs, and Mr. Vincent has placed the eggs under a Plymouth Rock hen and will experiment with this new variety of goose if the hen is fortunate enough to bring out her brood. A goose is only supposed to lay from 10 to 35 eggs in the spring of each year.

MILITIA HALLOWE'EN DANCE

Cloak Room and Supper Room Arrangements

Adequate facilities are now provided in the ladies' and gents' cloak rooms in the armouries for the proper care of all coats and hats. The ladies cloak room will be free, but the gents' room will be in charge of an attendant who will check all articles and hang them up. For this service a fee of ten cents will be charged. No one will be admitted to the room.

Supper will be served in the billiard room, under the direction of Cyril Abrahams, who is catering for the dance, and tables for two or four persons will be available from 11 p.m.

The two militia units feel that the people of Red Deer and district owe it to them to attend this, the first of their public functions of the winter, and assure those who go a splendid time.

The regular meeting of the Red Deer Rovers was held in the Scout Den on Third Street North on Thursday evening, October 23, at 8 p.m. Eight members were present, five in one patrol and three in the other. The two absentees had other engagements that evening. The mysteries of special kinds of knots was gone into, each one showing the others something they didn't know. The members, after some discussion, decided to leave the naming of the troops and patrols, also the leaders, until the next meeting. Three more members are wanted to fill up each patrol, and any young man over 17 years of age wishing to become a Rover Scout should try and be on hand at the next meeting. Scouter Gall has consented to act as leader until the troop is on a good working basis, and Scouter Gillespie will help by giving instruction talks and demonstrations at each meeting. It was also decided that instruction be given to the troop as one unit, but that each patrol will compete against the other in tests and games. The members must pass tests for a Cub Rover, whether they have already passed them or not. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, November 6th, at 8 p.m. and you are invited to become a Rover.

BIG FIVE LEAGUE AGAIN FORMED

At the annual meeting of the Big Five Hockey League, held in Ponoka on Friday afternoon last, it was decided to re-organize for the coming season including the same towns as last year, namely Lacombe, Wetaskiwin, Ponoka, Lacombe and Red Deer.

The following officers were elected:
President—R. C. Ames, Ponoka.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. McMurdo, Wetaskiwin.
Sec.-Treas.—T. J. McKenty, Lacombe.

Dr. J. B. Long, of Red Deer, and H. Small, of Leduc, were appointed to act on the executive with the above officers.

The schedule will be drawn up and released as soon as possible.

We have no hesitation in saying that this league proved to be the best amateur league in Alberta, and prospects are again bright for a splendid hockey season.

A. D. McKENZIE DEAD

An old-timer of the district passed away on Wednesday in the person of A. D. McKenzie, aged 65 years. Death came very suddenly at the last, though Mr. McKenzie had recently returned from the Coast, where he went in search of health.

A. D. McKenzie was born in Prince Edward Island and married Miss Christine Bethune, and all the children were born there. He came to Alberta in 1900 and has lived just north of Penhold ever since. He leaves to mourn his loss, his sorrowing widow and five children, namely, Gordon, at San Francisco; Mrs. Walter Shub, at Kirkland, Washington; Mrs. Claude Bagley, of Banff; Eldon and Hugh of Penhold.

The funeral was held from the Presbyterian Church, Red Deer, on Friday, and he was laid to rest in the Red Deer Cemetery, Rev. Mr. Brown conducting the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. E. Pye, W. Darragh, W. Inglis, H. R. McDougall, J. Harte and W. Eyre.

The floral offerings were very numerous, and the church was packed with friends of the family.

Mr. McKenzie's widowed sister, Mrs. McDonald, of Calgary, was up for the funeral.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the City Council was held on Monday night, his worship the Mayor in the chair, and Aldermen Galbraith, Johns, McClure and Snell and Commissioner Stephenson present. The meeting was unusually short as there was not a great deal of business of any kind before the meeting.

Correspondence

W. S. Simpson, Mayor of the town of Lacombe, were inviting the members of the Council to Lacombe to the unveiling of the war memorial at that town on Friday, October 31. The Secretary was instructed to acknowledge the invitation and advise that a representation from the Council would be present.

The Secretary of the Town of Vegreville asked for information on the way the city dealt with transient traders. The Commissioner had sent a copy of the by-law.

Messrs. Daws & Pamely advised that the Permanent Construction Co. has completed their contract on the Ross street sewer construction and asked that the sum of $80.00 that had been held back by the city be paid. The Commissioner pointed out that the Company were supposed to be under bond to keep the street in repair for one year after the completion of the work. The sewer was completed on July 15, but the bond expires November 30th. The Council decided to let the matter rest as it is until the correct bond is furnished.

The Board of Public Utilities wrote re. Woodlea, enclosing two copies of an order cancelling the street and vesting it in the city. The Commissioner was authorized to continue proceedings to have the entire plan cancelled.

Commissioners' Report

The Commissioners brought in the following report, which was adopted.

1. The annual convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities will be held in Edmonton on November 5 and 6. Delegates should be appointed at this meeting should the Council decide to be represented.

2. The work of gravelling First Street South is progressing favorably, and Foreman Jones hopes to have it completed before freezing-up.

3. Regarding the petition for street light at corner of Second Ave. East and 5th Street South, we beg to report that there is now a street light on this avenue at corner of 3rd St. South. In the first block south of Third St. light there are four houses and in the next block South there are five houses. There is no through traffic on this avenue since the Exhibition Hill has gone out of use. The cost of installing a light at this corner will be about $25.00 and the annual charge $65 for small light and $105.00 for large one.

We submit accounts for your authorization to pay.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

DR. J. COLLISON,
A. T. STEPHENSON,
Commissioners.

After some discussion it was decided to have Commissioner Stephenson attend as a delegate to the convention of the Union of Alberta Municipalities.

Dealing with clause 3 of the report, the Council decided to defer action on the petition presented at last meeting. They will continue to make a survey of the lighting in the city, as there are some lights that would be of more use in other spots.

ACCOUNTS

The payment of the following accounts were authorized:

K. Bowman, $60.00; N. Fiske, $15.20; Union Alberta Municipalities, $15.00; A. Forrester, $5.25; Garlock Packing Co., $2.96; Bryce & Graham, $550.00; M. R. Willett, $23.76; J. Cruickshank, $7.50; W. Agnew, $15.62; Attorney-General of Alberta, $22.50.

The Secretary advised that he had received a communication from the Secretary of the G.W.V.A. asking that their request for permission to instal flag sockets throughout the city be withdrawn.

Council recommended the issue of licenses to the Commercial, Union and Rex Cafes.

Council adjourned at 10 p.m.

MILITIA NOTES

The Winter drill season begins the first week in November. Both units have completed arrangements and look for regular attendance on the part of members.

The men's gym class will start on Friday, November 7th, and until it becomes necessary to start separate classes, all members of the Militia will be enrolled in the Friday evening class, with non-members who wish to enrol.

Punctuality at drill is expected and will be enforced, as no training is successful if carried out in a haphazard or lackadaisical way. Time stated in orders should be adhered to. Only those answering roll call will receive credit for drills, unless a satisfactory explanation is forthcoming.

An effort is being made to form teams for the various games and for rifle shooting. Those wishing to join teams should notify the Sports Committee at once, so that games may be arranged between units.

Every Militiaman should take an interest in his unit and endeavor to do his utmost to raise the standard of efficiency in the unit, and in that way benefit himself. A few minutes at drill, at a lecture, at games, at study, one night a week, will benefit any young man.

The purpose of the Militia is to provide a force for national defence only. The Militiaman cannot be called upon to serve outside the Dominion, but he may be used to quell internal disorders, as riots, if life and property are in danger, and the civil powers cannot cope with the disturbance.

He is not training for war, but simply to take his place as a worth while citizen should the Militia be required.

The military training received in Cadet Corps is invaluable in building up growing boys and counteracting tendencies to lost and slouch about.

A PRETTY WINDOW

George Best, who has twice taken third prize in the window-dressing competitions put on by the Congoleum Rug manufacturers, is again in the contest. He has a very fine window, the best he has yet had, and should do better this year than before. Around the back of his spacious show window are different congoleum rugs, in the rolls and standing on end. In the centre is a very fine little house, tastefully painted, and surrounded by miniature but natural appearing lawns, fences and trees. From a window in each room of the little dwelling stretch colored streamers to the particular congoleum that would be suitable for the floor covering in that room. At the sign overhead says, "There is a Congoleum Rug for Every Room."

The dressing of the window must have entailed a great deal of time and pains. It is attracting much attention, and is also, states Mr. Best, bringing results in increased sales. We should like to see him get the premier award for his efforts.

RED DEER'S OIL WELL NEWS

The Montana Oil Jornal, of Great Falls, Montana, of Saturday, October 25th, says of the new well of the Red Deer company:

"Wells in the area of large production took second place in interest to the east end of the field where two excellent wells were completed, one by the Adams interests of Minneapolis, and the other by the Red Deer Oil Company of Canada."

Sunburst-Anderson

"Red Deer Anderson No. 3 Well, on the Sunburst-Anderson farm, in N.W., N.W. quarter, S.W. quarter, 29-35-1-W., struck the sand at 1455 feet, the sand continuing to 1532, one of the best sand members found in the field. There is 1300 feet of oil in the hole, and it will make an excellent well, observers say."

FIRST "D" CO. SHOOT

The first shoot at the miniature ranges in the Armouries by the members of the newly-organized "D" Company was held on Thursday night. Lieut. Crosby gave the new members a talk on the rudiments of musketry and target shooting and everyone present fired ten or fifteen rounds. Those present were very interested in the work and many more are expected to be on hand this week. Even in the one evening's work distinct improvement in the shooting of some of the members was shown. Next shoot, tomorrow night.

THE BOXING BOUTS

Tomorrow night sport patrons of Red Deer will have an opportunity of seeing what promises to be the best boxing exhibition ever put on in Red Deer. Bud Taylor, of Edmonton, comes with a good reputation as a clean, hard fighter. He has been training faithfully in the basement of the McBride Hotel and states that he is in perfect condition for the bout. Baden Whiteside is well known in the district as he has been in several bouts that have pleased those who watched him perform. He has been improving rapidly of late, and in his recent bouts has shaped like a comer. He is giving away considerable weight but should more than make up for it in the greater speed he shows. As far as hitting power goes he compares favorably with Taylor. His reach is as long as that of his opponent and he is, if anything, in better shape.

Already tickets are selling well. The preliminaries look promising and the contestants in each case evenly matched. The proceeds of the bout go to good causes—one-half to the Covered Rink fund and the other half to the Benevolent Fund of the Elks Lodge, who are promoting the fight.

HARVEST SERVICES AT ST. LUKE'S

The annual Thanksgiving and Harvest services were held on Sunday at St. Luke's Church. The rector, Rev. Gerald McComas, preached at the morning service, which was followed by Holy Communion. The Communion service was all choral, the choir rendering Simper's beautiful setting very creditably. At the evening service, the sermon was preached by Ven. Archdeacon Hayes, of Calgary.

Special Harvest hymns were sung at both services, and at the evening service the choir rendered an anthem "All Thy Works Shall Praise Thee," by Caleb Simper, Catherine Pyke and Louis Pearson taking the solo parts.

The church was beautifully decorated for the services, and a large number of persons were present at both services.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS PASSED ON

At the age of eighty-four years, six months, and after an illness of over five months, Edmond Perrier passed away Tuesday last, October 21st, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Strong, Michener Hill.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, a private service at the house for the immediate family, and afterwards a service at the Baptist Church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. Jackson officiated, taking for his text Job V.:26: "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age; Like as a shock of corn cometh in its season." He spoke of the fitting and beautiful time of the year, when the harvest is being gathered and the leaves are falling. "Abide With Me" and "Lead Kindly Light" were sung. Also the beautiful hymn was sung by the choir, "On the Happy Golden Shore, Where the Faithful part no more, Meet me there." The pallbearers were Henry Hart, A. Faucher, J. Comfort, A. Provost, W. V. Hoyle and R. C. Neal. The flowers included a pillow from the family; spray from Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, spray from Boys' Club, Baptist Church, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Neal, spray from Mr. and Mrs. Christian, wreath from The Waskasoo Guild, spray from the Waskasoo school children, spray from Mabel Soderman.

Mr. Perrier came to Red Deer from Quebec in 1899, and took up farming west of town in the Poplar Ridge district. He was of a reticent nature, a true friend and good neighbor—"Grandpa" to all who knew him. A young and old, and a good father to a family, who loved him dearly. Grandpa's rocking chair is empty, with no one to fill it.

He leaves a son, Adelbert, of Calgary, three daughters, Mrs. John Wood, of Rimbey, Miss Esther May, and Mrs. H. S. Strong, with whom he had made his home since Mrs. Perrier's death thirteen years ago, also twelve grandchildren and two great grandchildren. There are three brothers, Eli Perrier, of Montreal City; Samuel and David of St. Philippe, P.Q., and four sisters, Mrs. Joseph St. James, of St. Constant; Mrs. Benjamin Leith, of Laprairie, P. Q.; Mrs. Emile Rossier, of Montgomery, and Mrs. Samuel Rossier, of Newport, Vt.

Robt. Parries, Sec-Treas

Richard Simons, a boy from North Red Deer, had a narrow escape from serious injury when he fell off his bicycle at the corner of Ross St. and Gaetz Ave. on Saturday afternoon, immediately in front of Ralph Patterson, who was driving by in his Ford car. The car passed over him and over his wheel, which was nearly demolished. He miraculously escaped with a few bruises only. It appears the boy was riding with his hands off the handle bars when the wheel skidded.

MAYOR COLLISON WILL NOT STAND FOR RE-ELECTION

After four years in the Mayor's chair, and nine years in the Council, Dr. John Collison informed a News reporter yesterday that he would not again be a candidate for the Mayor's chair. If the Doctor could have been persuaded to stand for another term, he feel assured he would have had no opposition, but he has felt for some time that his business has suffered owing to the time he has devoted to city affairs, and he is quite willing and anxious that the honors should be passed along.

Dr. Collison has filled the position of Mayor of Red Deer with honor to himself and credit to the city. During his term of office the most careful scrutiny of every cent of expenditure was absolutely necessary if the city was ever going to reduce the tax rate, and we have started to reduce very little, and the debenture debt has been reduced, and the Doctor can retire with a feeling of satisfaction that the work he has done while he has held the helm has been well done.

Alderman E. G. Johns has been mentioned as a prospective candidate for the position of Mayor. While Alderman Johns is not seeking the position owing to press of business, still if the citizens of Red Deer desire his services, he will be willing to act. He has had four years' experience on the Council Board, and is fully qualified to fill the office, and The News is quite willing to support his candidature for the position if he stands.

Mrs. Wood, as visiting delegate, gave a brief report of business done at the convention. A debate on "The movies are more beneficial than harmful" was then staged. Unfortunately one of the negative speakers was absent. BLACKFALDS BREEZES

The dramatic branch of the C. G. I. T. put on their famous play entitled "The Little Clodhopper," in the hall, last Saturday night. The crowd was large considering the busy season. The proceeds, which amounted to somewhere in the neighborhood of $50, went toward paying the expenses of the C.G.I.T. girls themselves during their camping spell in the summer months.

The characters were taken by Dorothy Bills, who acted the part of The Little Clodhopper, Judy Elliott; Edith Lowry, the book agent, under the name of Septumus Green; Ossey Gump, taken by Mary Farewell; Miss Julietta Bean, taken by Doris Gibbons; Mrs. Chiggerson Boggs and her son George, taken by Grace Farewell and Gunvor Sather; Miss Chasmain Carter taken by Frances Bills.

The play was exceptionally lively from the beginning to the end. Each actress and actor played their part in a suitable manner, which is a credit to the girls who have worked so hard for the last month in preparing the play. The girls won much applause from the audience. Miss Mann, who trained the girls, is to be congratulated on the successful event.

Mr. F. Farley paid a visit to his farm near Camrose over the week end. He reports threshing well on the way.

The Athletic Club intend to start the ball rolling in the way of a dance on Friday, November 7th, with Bone's orchestra. A big time is assured. See bills. This event is to start the winter program of sports which will follow in due cousre. We hope many will turn out to help the club.

DEATH OF MR. E. PERRIER

Mr. Edmond Perrier, one of the early settlers of Poplar Ridge 25 years ago, passed away on Tuesday at the advanced age of 84 years and 6 months. Mr. Perrier was born in St. Philippe, Quebec province, and in earlier years he had farmed near Montreal and at Grand Ligne, in Quebec, and in New York state. Mr. Perrier and Mrs. Perrier, who died in 1911 at the age of 63, and who will be remembered as a woman of stalwart frame and active neighborliness and kindness, came in with members of the family in 1899, and built up a new home on the S.E. 10-39-28, W. 4th. Mr. Perrier has made his home latterly with his daughter, Mrs. Strong. He was a man of quiet, kindly disposition, much interested in the work of the Baptist church, especially in the Grand Ligne mission in Quebec. His sons and daughters are Adelbert, Calgary; Mrs. H. S. Strong, Red Deer; Mrs. John Wood, Rimbey, and Miss May Perrier. He has three brothers still living in Quebec, and two sisters in Vermont.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon from the Baptist church to the Red Deer cemetery, Rev. E. L. Jackson conducting the service. The pallbearers were A. Faucher, H. Hart, R. C. Neal; Mr. Hoyle, Penhold; J. H. Comfort and A. J. Provost. Among the floral offerings were contributions from the Waskasoo Guild, the children of Waskasoo school, and the Boys' Club of the Baptist church, Red Deer.

MILLIONS READY TO COME TO CANADA

Unfavorable Reports Keeping Emigrants Away, Says Dr. Black

More people in the British Isles want to emigrate to Canada to provide better opportunities for their children than for any other reason, it is stated by Dr. W. J. Black, European manager of colonization and immigration for the Canadian National Railways, who has arrived in Canada to take part in a conference on colonization.

Ignorance of actual climatic conditions and reports of unemployment and low wages are the principal reasons detrimental to immigration to Canada at the present time. "Unless many Canadians display a greater measure of confidence in their country and its possibilities than they have been doing in recent years, the effect will be to retard development in immigration," Dr. Black declared.

"Millions of people are available for settlement in Canada, who will come as soon as they are satisfied that it will be to their advantage to emigrate and they can arrange to do so."

Dr. Black declared himself opposed to the system of directing newcomers wholly to Western Canada and said he believed there were many desirable and adaptable settlers in Great Britain who, while they might not succeed in the prairie provinces, would find themselves at home and would make a success of life in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec or the Maritime Provinces. The policy of directing newcomers to the parts of Canada most suitable for them, his department intended to adhere to.

SANITARY METHODS DURING ROMAN ERA

Proof that babies of the Roman expansion era were accustomed to the luxury of the nursing bottle has been found during excavating on the site of an ancient Roman city near Folkestone, England. The archaeologists have unearthed the nipple end of a baby's bottle made of stone, and of a shape identical with the latest in nursing bottles. The nipple also is made of stone through which a small hole is pierced, and the bottle itself is very heavy.

Edmonton market suffering from general decline also and sales this week ranging $8.75 to $9.15, on thick smooths, off cars, and 10 percent. on bacon.

Sheep—

Calgary market holding steady and choice lambs still around $11.50, with plain ones down to $10.50; yearlings at $9 to $10.50; fat ewes, $4 to $7. Still good demand for breeding ewes.

With offering of sheep light at Edmonton the prices are steadily strengthening and choice lambs still around $12.50, with plain ones down to $10.50; yearlings at $9 to $10.50; fat ewes, $4 to $7. Still good demand for breeding ewes.

With offerings of sheep light at Edmonton the prices are steadily strengthening and choice lambs up to $12 and others $11; yearlings, $9 to $10, fat ewes, $4 to $7.

Grain—

Markets have been jumpy during the week as might be expected when prices are high. Threshing operations have been carried on during the week in Alberta under generally favorable conditions. There is a lot of grain which is losing grade because of various conditions which militated against it during growth and maturity and resulted in poorly developed grain. Price tendency naturally uncertain but at present the market looks encouraging for the crop.

Butter—Cream—Cheese—

Creamery Butter—Alberta prices are unchanged; production decreasing rapidly, especially in southern portion of province, north holding up better. All prices unchanged, except a drop on car lots. Eastern market weaker, but local and coast demand will take care of most of Alberta make for the season now. Butterfat—Alberta prices unchanged and Saskatchewan hold the same; Manitoba reported likely to get in line. Dairy Butter—Supplies very light and hardly any arriving at central points. Cheese—Prices holding recent advance and trade outlook much better.

Eggs—Poultry—

Eggs—All Alberta prices advanced this week about 3c, making prices now: Extras, 38c; No. 1, 33c; No. 2, 23c to 25c; cracks, 18c to 19c. Receipts very light. Poultry—Market very slow and lower all around. Fowl 8c to 12c; chicken, 12c to 14c; old roosters, 6c. Ducks, 10c. No extra demand likely to develop for Thanksgiving and turkeys and geese not wanted now; all birds should be held and finished for the big holiday trade at Christmas.

Potatoes—

Growers getting bullish since recent government reports were published and some lots have been bought in Calgary district up to $25, but most of the A grade is at $20. Other grades $16 to $18; not much carlot business yet.

Hay—

Movement not started yet in any volume and prices irregular.

Hides—

Tanners are not buying in quantities and future will be governed by action of the leather demand, which is poor at present.

Furs—

Dealers now watching trend of fall buying by manufacturers to set prices for early catch, but so far nothing very marked, though muskrats are not looking very good.

THE ONE ULTIMATE TRAGEDY

The policeman, hearing the shot, burst into the fashionable apartment. Cringing before him on the floor was the crumpled figure of a woman, weeping hysterically, a smoking pistol clutched in her trembling fingers.

"My husband! Oh, my husband!" she moaned.

"Control yourself, lady," urged the officer. "Where is the corpse?"

"Gone," sobbed the woman. "He went out through the window. I—I missed him."

The policeman was giving evidence and was being strictly cross-examined by the Magistrate.

"Now, be careful," said his interlocutor, "What was the prisoner doing?"

"'E was 'avin' a very 'eated argument with a taxi-driver, yer Worship."

"But that doesn't prove he was drunk," said the magistrate.

"No," replied the policeman smiling reminiscently, "but there wasn't a taxi-driver there!"

ALBERTA BUTTER POPULAR IN BRITAIN

Shipments Forwarded Direct from Producers to Overseas Market

Shipments of Alberta creamery butter continue to be forwarded direct from producers to the British market. This movement assumed some proportions last year and the marketing of the butter direct by the manufacturers proved satisfactory. Recently three carloads left Edmonton for the Old Country and other shipments have been made from Calgary. The increasing popularity of Alberta butter in Great Britain was demonstrated by the minister of agriculture bringing back with him from overseas orders to handle large quantities of the Alberta product provided the supply can be made continuous throughout the year.

Watchmen Who Never Sleep

Top left—Shows how they guard the approach to the Kelsey Horse Pass; right, the passage through the Pass itself, and the Palliser Tunnel (below).

Comparatively few of the thousands of miles of railroad in Canada are electrified, but there is no railway organization which does not rely to a greater or lesser extent on electricity as an aid to efficient operation and service. Electricity plays an important part in all of the great Railroad Shops through the country. Some trains and cars are operated by power directly transmitted or stored in batteries. Bridges are operated, and a thousand and one electrical devices are in constant use which beside being labor saving do away with the human element which might make for inefficiency. Numbered among these are the automatic Block Signals which one finds distributed along the line of the Canadian Pacific, and notices particularly in the Rocky Mountain passes where they are more urgently required.

To the average layman an automatic signal is just a signal, and the general public is only interested in it because it gives added protection, or rather eliminates possible danger from the portion of track which it governs. To the railroad official it is more. It acts as watchman against broken rails, open switches, a fouled track or any other obstruction. Through a circuit in the rail this is accomplished, and if the circuit be broken, for the reason that another train is occupying the block, or that there is an open switch, a broken rail, washout or other obstruction, then the train approaching the signal may not pass. And while it awaits a through signal, trains following in the rear may not approach for the reason that they are also stopped by an automatic signal which will not release them until the preceding train has passed from that section of the track which they desire to enter. A perfect system. No electrical circuit — no through signal — no train may pass.

The value of this system in the Rockies can hardly be over-estimated. Not only is labor saved, but the company is able to ensure absolute protection.

PUBLIC DEFENDERS

From time to time, both in public and private discussion, comment is made on the unfairness of one aspect of our criminal law system, namely, that which compels persons accused of a crime to incur heavy expense in defending themselves without any means of recovering such expense if they are proved to be innocent. The accused person without means can in some cases have legal assistance assigned to him if he asks for it, but such assistance is not always of the highest quality, though sometimes it is, nor is it always sympathetically disposed towards the unprofitable accused. Moreover, the innocent man who through some mistake, some blunder, or some malevolence, is accused of a crime, usually has some means or gets it from his friends in order to defend himself. On the whole, it is usually a guilty man who has to have counsel assigned to him free of charge by the Crown authorities.

There seems to be something wrong about this. In the first place, it is quite unfair to an innocent accused person. In the second place, it is often unfair to the Crown and the public whom the Crown represents in criminal matters, for it means that where money is available to an accused person, guilty or not, he can usually obtain the help of a skilled counsel, who usually thinks first of getting a verdict of not guilty for his client, and, second (and a long way after, at that), of bringing out before the judge and jury the exact facts of the case. Crown counsel by an honourable tradition are bound to bring to the notice of judge or jury or both all facts relevant to the case favourable or unfavourable to the defence. Defending counsel on the other hand are under no such obligation to the Crown.

If, then, public defenders were appointed, their task would be to put before the judge and jury all the facts relevant to the case just as the Crown counsel, but with a kindly eye to the accused, and also without expense to him. Such defence would not cost the accused anything, unless he was found guilty and possessed property, in which case such property should be forfeited to the Crown to the extent of the expense involved in the trial. If it is suggested that such a procedure in the case of a guilty man would compel him to face the alternatives of doing without counsel altogether, or running the risk of having his guilt made clear by his own counsel, then the answer is that the more such alternatives are forced on guilty persons, the better it will be for the country and the world at large.

The Bar Association of Canada recently appointed a committee consisting of the Police Magistrates of Winnipeg and Toronto and two Quebec barristers to consider this question. Their report does not pronounce decisively in favour of establishing public defenders, but suggests that some at least of the Provinces might make a trial of it in order to see how it works out in practice. It certainly seems as if it might tend to remove an undoubted blot on our criminal practice, and possibly to make considerably less common the instances where guilty men escape their just punishment through the interested efforts of skilful legal practitioners. The benefit of such results would outweigh definitely the cost, not necessarily very high, of paying such public defenders from public funds.

OCCUPATIONS MASCULINE AND FEMININE

We have left far behind us the days when housekeeping was regarded as the only suitable occupation for women. The war gave the final death blow to that ancient theory by showing that there were very few occupations indeed in which women could not acquit themselves almost if not quite as well as men and in some instances better than men. Nevertheless, physical constitution cannot be ignored, and it is undoubtedly true that certain occupations are preeminently suited for men and others for women. In spite of the splendid work done by women in the war as, for instance, motor drivers, it remains roughly true that work which demands much direct physical strength and effort is most suitable for men. It is highly unlikely that such work as that of engineers or firemen on our railways will ever fall to women, though the women engine cleaner squads were numerous enough in the war. Conversely, there are certain kinds of work which should never be undertaken by men. The superintendence of a ribbon and lace counter in a store, for instance, comes within such a category. Probably if our society could be arranged on anything like model lines, all the store assistants' jobs, except those in which heavy weights have to be lifted, could be assigned to women with the certainty that they would be done with a higher average of cheerfulness and efficiency than that attained by male assistants.

As stenographers women seem to be superior to men on the whole, though it is a little difficult to say why, for in our experience it is a wholly unnatural thing for a girl to put up with being dictated to. As a rule she likes to do the dictating herself, especially to some poor crushed worm of a man, and more especially still if owing to matrimonial chains the said worm is prevented from turning and fleeing.

Of the so-called professions that of teaching has largely fallen into the hands of women in this country, except in the case of the universities and a few schools of special type. Perhaps this is only a temporary phenomenon due to there being a great amount of heavy pioneer work to be done by the men of this country, but in any event it seems to be not unsuitable except perhaps in the case of the older boys in the schools who sometimes need a heavier hand to control them than that possessed by most of our graceful lady teachers. Law does not appear to be a really suitable calling for women. The feminine predilection for copious and picturesque irrelevance somewhat unfits them for the dry dialectics of the courts and the bare averments of legal documents. It is less easy to see why the profession of the church should have remained so largely closed to women. The Pauline dictum on the subject and tradition have no doubt something to do with it, but tradition is much weakened nowadays. There is something essentially feminine about the hazy sentimentality of many modern sermons as distinct from the old masculine fire and brimstone outpourings of wrath, while pastoral visitations with their accompaniments of weak tea and mild gossip would come easily enough to feminine incumbents. Possibly, however, it would be unfair to deprive the ladies of that perennial excitement which may be roughly described as "Hunting the Wild Curate."

There can be no question as to the infinite good which has resulted from the widening of the scope of women's activities in the world. It has increased the economic capacity of civilized nations and added greatly to the range of intellectual sympathy between men and women. It has given rise to occasional unwise departures from normally healthy tastes, but on the whole the balance is heavily on the right side. The old order of things was only a few degrees above the oriental theory of the harem. The new order marks a distinct rise in the whole scale of our civilization.

CHILD WELFARE

It seems a long way from European unrest and trade depression to child welfare, but a fact called to notice by a British public man recently has shown the direct connection between these things. It has for long been realized that it is the lack of increase in the population of France which has allowed Germany to become so very much stronger in respect of numbers. That disparity in numbers not only was responsible for the inability of France to prevent her territory from being invaded at the outset of the late war but has also given rise to the French demand for security in the form of the Rhine frontier and to the German attempts to evade the treaty and divide the Allies with a view to attacking France alone and regaining what she has lost. That in its turn has caused the failure of Europe to settle down to peaceful trade and that failure again has prevented the recovery of the whole world from the consequences of the war.

The fact referred to is that the stagnation of the population of France is due not, as has been generally believed, to a low birth-rate, but to a high death-rate, and particularly a high death-rate among very young children. In point of fact there were more births in France last year than in England, but owing to the high French death-rate the population of France increased by only a few thousands, while that of England increased by several hundred thousand.

Investigations conducted in the cities of England show that the cities which have the lowest death-rate are those in which the most care is shown and the best organization is developed to look after the welfare of young children and their mothers. The system which has worked most successfully has been a combination of paid municipal service and voluntary unpaid welfare work. The results of this combination have been in the highest degree successful and beneficial to the cities where it is in operation.

These facts should be noted by those amongst us who are disposed to view with indifference or even with hostility any measures adopted or expense incurred by the Government in the direction of child welfare. In view of the facts now revealed it is at least possible to argue that had France introduced after 1870 an efficient system of looking after her children, she might never have had to face the terrible struggle of 1914, or at any rate she would have faced it on something like equal terms with her great enemy.

In this country of great distances and comparative difficulty of communications and scarcity of doctors, it is of high importance that the system of instruction in child welfare should be developed to as great a degree as public finances allow. It will be remembered that last year the Government of Alberta found it necessary for reasons of economy to dismiss a number of the nurses appointed to look after the health of the school children throughout the Province. Government economy in these days is no doubt entirely necessary and praiseworthy, but it might be wished that in this instance the economy had been exercised in some other direction and at the expense of others than the children. The Province might have been rather better off if instead of the nurses some of the members of the Legislature had been dismissed, or the indemnities of the whole of the members had been reduced, and the necessary economy effected in that manner. There are some economies which turn out in the end to be highly expensive.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The election in Edmonton has furnished some surprises, but the greatest is the surprisingly large vote polled by Bartholomew, the labor candidate. According to press reports, he is one of the extreme radicals in the party, and it was not expected that labor would vote solidly for him as they apparently did do.

The punishment meted out to Smith and Jarvis must go a great distance in adding to the esteem in which the Canadian courts of justice are held. They defrauded the province of Ontario out of $600,000. Before they get out of jail they must make restitution or pay a fine of an equal amount.

The matter of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement is serious. The railway commissioners no doubt acted in the way they felt they must interpret the act. But to the average person in the West it will appear that he is being rankly discriminated against, that he is the goat of the railways and of the government at Ottawa, and that the railways are running the country. Such a feeling is a bad one, and once in the people's mind will be hard to dislodge. It is such things that cause the annual migration to the United States.

LIBERALS ORGANIZING

A well attended meeting was held on Monday evening in the K. P. Hall at Benalto for the purpose of organizing a local Liberal Association and to appoint delegates to the provincial Liberal Association to be held in Calgary on the 27th November.

The following officers were appointed:

President G. S. Warren.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Warren.
2nd Vice-Pres.—L. O. Bardwell.
Secretary—V. B. Buchanan.

J. J. Gaetz, J. W. Broughton, P. E. Kent and other Red Deer Liberals came over and gave brief talks on the principles and objects of Liberalism. The appointment of executive and delegates was left over for the present.

ERNEST TORRENCE WINS FAME

IN TWO SUPER FEATURES, ALL WITHIN SPACE OF SIX MONTHS

Fortunate indeed is the actor lucky enough to have a role in a production which scores one of the biggest hits in the history of the cinema art, but when he comes right back as a featured member of the cast of another production hailed as greatest of all, he can surely be said to be a child of destiny. Such is Ernest Torrence, who plays one of the principal roles in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which opens its local engagement at the Rex Theatre on Monday.

Terrence was given lavish praise for his work in "The Covered Wagon," but all who have seen him in the new Universal production admit that he has accomplished a piece of art that will go down into history. In "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" his part is second only to that of Lon Chaney, the star, who portrays the role of "Quasimodo." Torrence will be seen as "Clopin, King of the Underworld." It is no reflection on either man to say that with any other man than Chaney in the title role Torrence would have "stolen" the stellar honors.

There is no question but that Hugo's story is so well known and liked that sectional likes and dislikes will play no part in determining its general popularity, and the unanimous praise given it by the New York critics has aroused a general attitude of interest.

Aside from Chaney and Torrence the cast is one of the most notable ever assembled, there being a total of 75 principals, including Tully Marshall, Brandon Hurst, Patsy Ruth Miller, Gladys Brockwell, Norman Kerry, Nigel de Brulier and Kate Lester. Two hundred players, ordinarily programmed names, played small parts, while the extras totalled in excess of 3500.

MEIGHEN SCORES TARIFF POLICY

Opposition Leader Says that Premier's Action Brings Industrial Paralysis

Toronto, October 22.—Claiming that the tariff policy of the King administration was practically bringing about economic and industrial paralysis and depopulation of the cities and towns of the Dominion, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative opposition in the house of commons, speaking under the auspices of the Toronto Women's Conservative Association, and the Liberal-Conservative Club, today called for support and influence of the national policy, which alone, he said, could bring back to Canada prosperity and trade confidence.

The Dominion Tory chieftain painted a sombre word picture of national economic affairs. He reiterates his declaration of the belief that a third of Canada's overseas fighters during the war had migrated to the United States. While the United States and other nations had experienced post-war periods of prosperity, Canada had never got out of the rut of stagnation.

CONDOR NEWS

Most of the threshing is completed, and with a few exceptions the yield has been disappointing. In addition to the poor yield, the grain is inclined to heat in the granaries and has to have constant attention.

Frank Barton met with a serious accident while threshing at Fred Hart's, resulting in a broken shoulder. He is suffering considerably from shock. Frank is deservedly popular, and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to him in his misfortune.

We understand that J. Simmons has rented his farm and intends moving into Red Deer in the spring. We can ill afford to lose farmers of Simmons' stamp, but appreciate that he is entitled to an easier life for the balance of his earthly existence.

E. Frost is under the weather and has been confined to bed for a few days.

Owing to so many of the farmers threshing last week and being exceedingly busy, the attendance at the Daisy Nook school dance for the aid of the Christmas tree was not very large.

Monday was an exceedingly busy day at Condor. A car of poultry was being loaded, a car of hogs besides cattle and sheep, and quite a bit of grain going into the elevator.

Major Meeres had the pleasure of having Capt. Corley, his uncle, Mr. Gardiner, of Mount Forest, Ont., and Mr. Nicol, of Calgary, to lunch on Saturday. Capt. Corley and Major Meeres were comrades in the 187th and the 50th, and naturally had much to talk about.

Tar Sand to Ontario for Experiments

The first carload of Alberta tar sands to be shipped out of Alberta for experimental purposes, will leave Edmonton on Monday next for Petrolia, Ontario. The shipment is being made by the Draper interests, who are operating tar sand claims at Waterways, north-east of Edmonton, on the Clearwater River. The carload of material will be sent to Petrolia, where the municipal authorities will use the material for the repairing of street paving. Part of the material will also be used for experimental purposes at the Draper plant at Petrolia.

British Boys Arrive

Fifty British young men, the first party to take advantage of the plan to train British youths at the Vermilion School of Agriculture in Alberta for farm life, will arrive at Vermilion on Monday next to commence their special courses. It is anticipated that another party of fifty will come out before Christmas. The young men will be given special training which will fit them for life on Alberta farms, under a scheme whereby the British Overseas Settlement Board and the Alberta Department of Agriculture bear the cost between them. The young men are required to have sufficient funds only to pay for their keep during the winter's course. The instruction will be under the direction of W. J. Elliott, former principal of the Claresholm School of Agriculture.

Ontario Wants Alberta Coal

Ontario is evidently waiting until the last minute before ordering its winter supply of coal, in the hope that it will be possible to secure Alberta coal instead of the U. S. coal. Telegrams received in the office of the Trade Commissioner the past week from the Fuel Board at Ottawa indicate that the importation of American anthracite has been much below normal this season so far in Ontario, and that people in Ontario are anxious to know of the possibility of securing Alberta coal. Trade Commissioner Stutchbury has replied that it would be possible for Alberta to supply coal this winter to Ontario if the freight rates can be adjusted.

Swine Breeders' Contest

Four hundred dollars will be distributed in prize money among the best of the 65 pairs of pigs entered for the Swine Breeders' competition and short course to be held at the University of Alberta on November 6 and 7, according to the programme for that event which has just been issued. The objects of the competition and short course are to stimulate a greater interest in the production of bacon hogs, to gain a more definite knowledge of the desired type in both market hogs and breeding stock, to discuss the various problems which arise in connection with the breeding, feeding and general management of hogs of the approved type, and to review the whole situation as it now exists in the light of present day market requirements.

The event is being staged under the auspices of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, the Alberta Provincial Swine Breeders' Association, the Dominion Livestock Branch, the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and the Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Alberta.

The new gold mining company are not giving out too much information, yet we may get some more later on. We hope this little information will not cause another '98.

THE "MUSKEG WALL"

Canadian Great Divide Will Some Day Be Wonderful Producing Area

Speaking of the tour of Scottish editors through Canada, the Montreal Gazette says that they got a glimpse of the agricultural and mining possibilities within the vast areas still awaiting the human power, "and on both sides of the 'muskeg wall,' which is supposed to be the Canadian Great Divide."

This article is concerned about the use of the expression "muskeg wall," to describe the great territory that lies between Manitoba and North Bay.

If to the west, beyond Lake Superior, there had been no prairies, that area would never have been called a muskeg wall.

It is rich in iron, copper, in other minerals. The future will in all probability disclose it as a second Porcupine and Cobalt country. It has the right geological formation.

It is immensely rich in timber. Lake Superior, Lake Nipigon and other lakes and rivers teem with fish.

It has valleys and plains topped with rich, producing soil.

Only people are wanted—that human power which the Gazette mentions—to make it, not a Great Divide, but a prosperous, wealth-creating, traffic-producing area, that will unite, not separate, the east and the west.

If there had been no prairie country, no treeless plains, to attract population, the westerly movement of people would by this time have settled that northern area.

It is not more difficult today to cut out a farm in Northern Ontario than it was for the grandparents of the present generation to hew a home out of the stiff forests of Old Ontario.

Mrs. Susannah Moodie, writing her book, "Roughing It In the Bush," nearly one hundred years ago, described the Great Swamp, near Peterboro, in Ontario—a swamp so vast that settlement, it was thought, could not leap over it. Where that swamp was one hundred years ago, smiling farms have stood for many years.

As that cedar swamp stood in the way of development and progress in that day, so the "muskeg wall" of Lake Superior, stands today—an ingrained Divide—but it will yet be a great producing area, rich in the output of its mines, its forests, lakes and farms.

It will not always be the Great Divide.—From the Calgary Herald.

HEBRIDEANS ARE WELL SATISFIED

Investigators Say Their Countrymen Are Succeeding Here

Montreal Daily Star, Oct. 17th, 1924.

Hon. James A. Robb, minister of Immigration and Colonization, has received the following report from the Rev. R. A. MacDonell, managing director of the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society, under whose guidance the Scottish delegation made a tour of two months throughout the Dominion, carefully selecting possible settlements for Hebrideans.

This report expresses satisfaction with conditions and thanks the Federal and Provincial Governments and the Minister of Immigration for their support in the immigration movement of Hebrideans into Canada and their satisfactory establishment.

The report follows:

"This delegation representative of Crofters and fishermen of the Hebrides have finished their survey of opportunities offered in Canada for farming and fishing.

"Preliminary to their report they wish to express their gratitude to the Canadian Government that enabled them to accomplish this survey which they expect will be fruitful of results.

Express Thanks

"They consider themselves indebted to the Dominion Government in giving them the opportunity of seeing and learning at first hand the present conditions of Hebrideans settled in Canada, not only their acquaintances and relatives who came to Canada in the last three or four years, but also to view, as they did with very great pleasure the prosperous condition of relatives who came and settled in Canada at various previous periods.

"We beg, therefore, to tender to the Minister of Immigration and the Government of Canada the respectful expression of our thanks.

"The delegation landed at Quebec on August 9th, and forthwith proceeded to the Maritime Provinces. The Government of Nova Scotia was much interested in the delegation and before proceeding on their journey of investigation the members had an interview with the Hon. D. Cameron. Everything was done to facilitate their progress, and the party, consisting of the delegates and a representative of the Nova Scotia Government, motored east to Pictou County. Here a cordial Highland welcome awaited them. The Mayor of Pictou, Major W. MacDonald, M.P.P., for the County, and others vied with one another to show the best of their county. The Hon. E. M. MacDonald was present in his county and displayed the greatest interest in the work of the delegation. The delegates were delighted, with what they saw of this beautiful and fruitful county. The farming is in a flourishing condition and opportunities for acquiring land at reasonable prices are not lacking.

"When the Hebrideans arrived at Lismore and Baillie's Brook, it was evident that there were here opportunities for both fishing and farming.

"The same conditions continued in the neighboring County of Antigonish, which is, if possible, even more Highland than Pictou.

"In Antigonish County the Hon. C. McIsaac and Hon. W. Chisholm accompanied the delegates for two days all round the best parts of their county.

"Undoubtedly in both these counties Scottish settlers would feel very much at home. The opportunities appear good and our delegates have no doubt that a new settler would very soon be in a way to make a comfortable living.

"From Nova Scotia the delegates motored through Cape Breton. The miserable weather conditions and the fact that so many of the highways were at the time under construction rather detracted from Cape Breton, and gave an inadequate impression of the island.

"On the night of August 21st, the delegates landed in Prince Edward Island. They received a hearty welcome from the citizens of Charlottetown. They were accompanied by Col. Innes and Mr. Creelman, of the S. S. B.

"The following morning, the Premier of the Island, Hon. Mr. Stewart, together with Hon. Mr. Myers and Hon. M. MacDonald, accompanied the delegation through certain farming lands in the eastern part of the Island. The delegates were enabled to meet the descendants of Hebrideans who came to the Island many years ago. Through conversation with such men who were evidently successful farmers, the members were enabled to form a fair idea of the farming possibilities from the immigrants' standpoint.

"The appearance of the farms, neat and well kept, appealed to the delegates, as also did the general fertility of the soil.

"From Prince Edward Island the Hebrideans crossed to New Brunswick. The Miramichi and the coast of the Bay of Chaleur showed good farms and excellent fishing opportunities.

"There can be little doubt that a good living can be made in these provinces by any of our people who would select them for settlement.

"From the Maritimes the delegation visited parts of Quebec, making a special trip to the Lake St. John country.

Language Bar

"The language question would rather militate against settlement in Quebec.

"On their way to the west by the Great Lakes route, the delegates passed a day at the Toronto Exhibition.

"In Manitoba the delegates visited the Agricultural College and were interested in the field work carried on there.

"From Winnipeg a journey of some hours took the members of the delegation to St. Andrew's near Wapella in the province of Saskatchewan. This district was settled in 1834 by Hebrideans from the Isles off South Uist and Benbecula, and the visiting Hebrideans found near relatives, and the children of old acquaintances—all doing well. The original settlers were very poor, and the progress made in 40 years was gratifying, and gave the delegates a more intimate and closer view of what Canada offers for the hard-working man who is determined to make a success, and progress is in proportion to the energy, skill and perseverance of the settler.

"Throughout the progress of the delegation in Canada, there was one special object kept in view, viz.:—to meet Hebridean settlers and visit Hebridean settlements made at various dates.

"1. The settlement in P. E. Island in the year 1772, led by MacDonald of Glenaladale. There were certain of his fellow-clansmen persecuted and oppressed by a tyrannical cadet of the Clan Ranald—his own relative. The oppressor was a fanatic and there was no reasoning with him, so MacDonald sold his estate and with the proceeds chartered a ship and led a notable body of Hebrideans to the Isle of St. John. (Now P. E. I.)

"2. In 1773 the Hector shipped a large body of Hebrideans to Pictou County.

"3. In the next few years, from 1790 on, parties landed around Antigonish and Cape Breton.

"4. A settlement at Belfast, P. E. I., in 1803, consisting of mainland Highlanders as well as Hebrideans.

"5. In 1848 a further settlement of Hebrideans in P. E. I., whose sons and descendants are around St. George's.

Settled in Ontario

"6. In the same year and four following years, parties came to Orillia, Ont., and its neighborhood, forming 'MacDonald's Settlement' and the 'Highland Settlement.'

"7. In 1852, the country near Parkhill in County Middlesex, Ontario, was opened out by Hebrideans.

"8. The next notable emigration from the Uists and Benbecula took place in 1884 and, as stated already, they formed the settlement of St. Andrew's near Wapella.

"The meeting and discussing matters with those sons of Hebrideans who came into Canada at such widely separated periods, and yet whose relatives in the Isles were known to the delegates, was of great interest, and amazing in the proof it gave of the ability of our people to acquire wealth and make comfortable homes for themselves in this Canada that has so many opportunities.

"But the visit of outstanding interest to the delegates was that paid to the Hebrideans established in Alberta with Red Deer as its centre. On the 11th September, the delegation drove from Red Deer to Ard-Moire, the headquarters of the Scottish Immigration Aid Society. Immediately they were taken away among the cottages and were not again collected together until the next morning when they left Ard-Moire to visit the prosperous little settlement of Evarts. This is a Barra settlement and is a complete answer to anyone asserting that Barra men will not make farmers. The splendid condition of their stock and the evidence of energetic activity were most gratifying. Regret at location has not yet met with anything that was so pleasing to them as the location and evident success of this young Hebridean settlement.

Men Successful

"Next day the delegation visited Ohaton, where a number of Uist and Benbecula men are, with not quite the same opportunity, making an equally successful effort. These men are in the country only one complete year, whilst the Evarts men are three years in Canada.

"Other settlers of this year's parties were visited. They were in the new cottages or in cottages belonging to local farmers, and all are working for farmers and acquiring necessary experience before undertaking places of their own. These all realize the opportunities awaiting the worker, but are impatient to be on places of their own. It is a healthy sign and doubtless means will be taken very soon to satisfy their ambition.

"It is essential in our opinion that intending settlers, even should they be in possession of considerable means, should pass at least one year working for a Canadian farmer, thereby acquiring much needed experience and a little cash. It is much better to acquire one's experience at the other fellow's expense rather than to be disheartened by the inevitable set-backs that inexperience will lead to.

"It is the part of an intending settler to learn, and our people should make up their minds before leaving home that to be successful in the new country they must be as apprentices—able and willing to learn.

"They will find, as our people already in the country acknowledge to have found, very great kindness on the part of their new neighbors. There are a few who are oppressive and willing to take advantage of the newcomer, but from our careful enquiries we believe them to be few.

Bright Future

"From all that we have observed, and we have conscientiously and scrupulously gone into conditions, we consider that our people will do well, very well indeed, for themselves in Alberta. Those who are on land of their own are without doubt satisfied and seeing in front of them a bright future. They have 160 acres of good land, horses, cows and pigs, and they are in earnest about making a success. From their own assertions and our observations they are here in much better conditions than they were at home. There is every chance for the worker, and room for many more.

"Our people in Alberta have made rapid progress and we are confident that they will be in all things a credit to the Old Land that we love, and be now and always a support and strength to this newer and greater Scotland that we find in Canada.

"From Edmonton the delegates took train to Vancouver to look into the fishing opportunities on Vancouver Island. We motored from Victoria to Alberni. Thence went by motor boat along Alberni Canal to Barclay Sound. Motor cars and boats were placed at our disposal by the Hon. W. Pattullo, the Minister of Lands.

"There would seem to be no doubt whatsoever as to the fishing—the quality is beyond dispute and as to the quantity, all accounts agree that in recent years the catch has been immense.

"The harbors in the Alberni Canal and Barcley Sound, from what we have personally seen, are safe and excellent in every way for fishing boats. There is one aspect of the fishing that we had no opportunity of practically investigating, viz., the fishing on the banks outside the canal and Sound—and that as to quality, quantity and times of fishing.

Fishing Trade

"Nevertheless, reasoning from what we observed in inside waters, and learned from others, we should be inclined to think that the outside fishing would be the more lucrative. Furthermore, from the evidence we could collect we have formed the opinion that the very finest herring can be caught off this coast, and if the necessary means were used to that end, 'Scottish cured' herring would become a valuable industry on the island. In regard to the making of a fishing settlement or community, we would not advise that the attempt be made on any isolated beach or island on the canal or Sound.

"As a beginning on the Western Coast of Vancouver Island we would suggest the neighborhood of the cities of Port Alberni and Alberni. The fishing will shift from time to time along the coast and the fisherman must follow. He will do so with contented mind if his wife and family are where church, school, doctor, etc., are easily available."

HAYNES HAPPENINGS

October 25th.

Mrs. Clark Bronson passed away in the Lacombe Hospital Tuesday night after an operation for a tumor the Friday previous. The body was brought to Haynes church, where service was conducted by Rev. W. Irish on Thursday, the 23rd and interment took place at Stone's burying ground. The church was filled with sympathizing neighbors and friends as the deceased was loved and respected by a large circle of friends, having lived in Haynes before going back to the river farm. Beside her sorrowing husband, Mrs. Bronson leaves one son, Jasper, and one daughter, Olive (Mrs. Bob Russell) and three grandchildren. Both Olive and Jasper were with her when she died. The deceased was in her 47th year, and came from Peterboro Co., Ont., and leaves three sisters and four brothers in the east. Mrs. Bronson has been in more or less ill health for a number of years, which finally became so acute that she was taken in to the hospital a week ago, but her weakened condition was unable to stand the strain. The family have the sympathy of the whole community.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bucknell, from Red Deer, were out visiting Charlie Bucknell one day last week. Their new Ford coupe looks fine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Seal, from Morningside, spent last week end with old friends at Haynes.

Mrs. Keeton got home Sunday from Red Deer feeling greatly improved in health.

The Rev. Mr. Lobb, of Blackfalds, exchanged pulpits for the day a week ago Sunday. Mr. Roy, from Edmonton, accompanied him and sang acceptably at each point.

Mr. Burdick has been lying ill the last couple of weeks.

Here and There

Immigration to Canada for the month of August, 1924, totalled 20,186, of whom 5,706 were from the British Isles, 1,784 from the United States, and 12,696 from other countries. Immigration for the first five months of the fiscal year totalled 76,719. In the same period 23,361 Canadians have returned to Canada from domicile in the United States.

As an indication that the tide of settlers has definitely set in the direction of Canada, it has been made known by the Department of Immigration and Colonization that 5,000 acres of land near Lethbridge has been sold to ten families of 75 persons from South Dakota. This, it is announced, is only the advance guard of a considerable northward movement from that region.

"We will have a good report to present when we reach the Hebrides", said Rev. Father Alex. MacDougall, a member of the Hebridean commission of inquiry which investigated conditions of Hebrideans in Canada. The members of the commission, after visiting Alberta, reported the new settlers perfectly satisfied with Canadian conditions.

Among the passengers sailing for Europe aboard the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of France" on October 8th, was Geo. A. Walton, General Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, who will represent the company on an extensive tour of Europe arranged for the American Association of Passenger Traffic Officers by the transAtlantic steamship companies and the railroads of Great Britain and the continent.

Charles J. Pernigotti, a native of Danbury, Conn., has received a commission from the Prince of Wales to paint some of his blooded stock on the E. P. ranch, near High River, on the Canadian Pacific lines in Alberta. Pernigotti, who has attained a reputation as a painter of animals, says the commission was awarded during the Prince's stay at Syosset. He will commence work the latter part of October.

As a result of the survey conducted by the newly formed Graphic Arts Association, printing and allied trades are now shown to constitute the second largest industry in Winnipeg, Man., representing an investment of $10,054,318, and providing employment for 12,000 people. The report shows that during 1923 the sum of $3,619,322 was paid in salaries.

With the approaching close of the tourist season, plans are being laid for the continuation of construction work at the Chateau Frontenac, the Canadian Pacific Railway's palatial hotel in the city of Quebec. Some of the interior decorating and the completion of rooms of the main corridor in the Chateau had to be left unfinished when the present tourist season opened, but it is expected that work on these parts of the hotel will commence very shortly. The billiard room and other rooms in the basement will also be completed as soon as possible.

BROOKSLEY BEAMS

October 25th.

The Brooksley Community Club met on October 18th, when Mrs. Annis Reid and Mrs. Owens entertained the members.

The above club will hold a dance on November 14th. Everybody welcome.

We read with interest the recent "Kalsomine article" in Saltwood Smiles. Doesn't the writer know that?
Little dabs of powder,
Little daubs of paint,
Make a lady's freckles,
Look as tho' they ain't?

We understand that Mr. Blades has now the radio installed in the Joffre beauty parlor. Ladies are requested not to shimmy to the music whilst the shingling business is in operation, or they may find themselves shy of an ear when the performance is over.

An Important Announcement

Owing to the slowness of business during the winter months, and hereto fore having the same overhead expense, we have lost considerable money from this time of the year until April 1st in the last two winters, so in order to avoid the same thing happening again we have decided to do away with every possible unnecessary expense, thus enabling us to sell our meat considerably cheaper.

In the winter months nearly everybody can arrange to get their meats, if necessary, one day ahead, or send the children, or phone your order and have someone call for it, as our policy from November 1st will be one of CASH AND CARRY, thus doing away with the delivery until April 1st, which is one of the most expensive parts of our overhead expense. We might also say that money owing on account has been very slow coming in, and in order to reduce our liabilities we are forced to make this change.

Should you send for your meat, or have someone call, you may depend on the same Service and Quality in meats as we have given in the past. By referring to our ad in this issue you will be able to compare our present price with our prices after November 1st, when you will see the benefit you will derive by trying to help economize through the coming winter, which looks none too good from a business standpoint in our district for the most of us.

In this advt. we are going to give you our present prices, also our November 1st prices, so you will be able to compare them and see where you will be benefited.

PIONEER MEAT MARKET

A HOPELESS FIGHT

The following letter appeared in the Montreal Daily Star and should be read by every thoughtful citizen who has the welfare of our country at heart. It is a question we have often discussed. All old-timers know what a great change has come over this country since our forests have been practically cleaned up, and it will be only a matter of a few years when we will have no timber to speak of left. Just how strong the pull of the interests is can be judged by Mr. Barnjum's letter. The Government seems to be helpless, or wilfully negligent of the people's interests.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—After spending the best part of the last three years, since my retirement from active participation in business, together with a very considerable fortune, in trying to arouse Canadians to a sense of their duty in connection with our fast-vanishing forest resources, I have about arrived at the conclusion that the cause of forest conservation in Canada might as well be abandoned. I realize that the public is keenly interested, but I find that an insurmountable stumbling block appears when it comes to the politicians and exploiters who can see nothing beyond their own petty interests and to whom the public welfare is a joke.

When I see the cold-blooded indifference displayed by the Government at Ottawa, it makes me ashamed of my Canadian citizenship. I have decided, therefore, to offer every acre of land, my pulp mills, farms, houses and whatever other property I own in Nova Scotia for sale to the first buyer who comes along and to join in the exodus to another country. I am so disgusted with recent revelations that I do this notwithstanding my convictions that timberlands will double in value within two years. When the interests become fully aware as to just how small the remaining supply really is, there will be a panic in timberland prices, but nothing will compensate one for living in a country in which he has entirely lost all faith of its future.

I am convinced that the Government, after paltering with this issue for many months, has no serious intention of dealing with it in the only way possible to bring relief, and that no restrictions will be imposed upon the shipment of unmanufactured wood from freehold land so long as there is a tree left in Canada.

Personally, I have no desire to live in a treeless country, a condition which Canada is fast approaching, and when I look around and see what other countries are doing for the preservation of their forests, while Canada is doing nothing, there seems to be no good reason why I should.

But before departing from the land of my birth, I want to leave a few serious thoughts with my fellow countrymen.

The present combination of politicians, exploiters and American gold are running and ruining Canada today. The combination is too powerful for the people in their present apathetic state to cope with. If the people really knew what was going on behind the scenes it would lead to a revolt. The members of the Government, although paid by the people, are not their servants but their autocratic masters. Even the Bible speaks of "the servant when he reigneth." The interests of the people are entirely subservient to theirs; they must retain power regardless of its consequences to the country. When a by-election is on the word is passed around that it must be won no matter at what cost. Immediately Ottawa is depleted of its great galaxy of orators who proceed to the scene of action. Between their eloquence, their cajoling, their intimidation and their campaign funds the poor voter has little chance to exercise his intelligence. The spectacle is so humiliating to red-blooded Canadians that it is small wonder that the exodus from Canada the past year has been the greatest in the history of the country.

Criminal deception is being practised with regard to the forest resources of Canada and I challenge the Government to reveal the true situation.

Do the public know that an aerial survey of the territory north of the St. Lawrence and east of the Saguenay has revealed the astounding fact that that whole territory is seventy-five per cent. burnt?

Do the public know that in the Province of Quebec alone between six and nine million acres were burned over during the single season of 1923, instead of the three million acres as announced by the Government of that province (which is, God knows, sufficiently appalling) and that despite this perfectly colossal shrinkage in our standing supply, exports of raw wood go on unchecked?

Do the people know that the very existence of the great pulp and paper industry is threatened, not only through the premature exhaustion of its raw material supply—but through ruinous competition brought about by the furnishing of cheap raw material to its competitors in the United States?

Do the people know that while Canadian mills have been reduced to operating at 80 per cent. or less of their capacity, American mills, owing their existence entirely to imported Canadian wood, are running 100 per cent. and upwards?

Do the people know that there is not a pulp company in Canada that is making any profits—many being already in the hands of a receiver—or that the paper companies, if they were charging adequate amounts for depreciation and depletion of their timber limits through insects, fungi, fire, wind and cutting, would be running at a loss?

Do the people know that pulpwood exported to the United States costs the Americans only $9.77 per cord, while the wood used by Canadian mills costs the Canadian manufacturers $13.33 per cord? (These figures are both taken from the report of the Department of Trade and Commerce.)

Do the people know that a cord of exported wood leaves in Canada a matter of $10.00, while a cord of wood manufactured into paper enriches the country to the extent of $50.00 to $60.00?

Do the people know that our wood-using industries are second only to agriculture as revenue producers and that the failure of the pulp and paper industry alone would bring this country close to bankruptcy?

Do the people know that the only measure that can possibly stabilize this industry today is an embargo on the exportation of its raw material?

Nature is proclaiming on every hand that this continent has already been over-denuded of forest cover. This is seen in the alternate floods, droughts, vast forest fires, tornadoes, late and early frosts and consequent failure and loss and damage to crops. In other words, Nature's whole equilibrium is being upset by the ruthless hand of the exploiter.

An expert witness to this condition is Gene Stratton Porter, one of the greatest Nature students on this continent, who says:

"With the cutting of our timber has come a change in our climate; weeks of drought in summer and destructive cyclonic wind-storms, winters alternating from a condition so open as to freeze prematurely forced fruit and grain, and winters so stringently cold that the fruit trees are killed outright.

"The even temperature and the rains every three or four days which we knew in childhood are things of the past. Summer in these days means to scorch for weeks at a stretch with unalleviated heat; and in the same state in which I was born it has become necessary for the sons of the men who wasted the woods and the waters to put in overhead sprinkling systems in order to grow their garden vegetables, while windmills and irrigation are becoming common.

In my childhood my father planted grain with the same certainty of having a full crop that he had of having alternate day and night. Today the farmer on my land has no more idea whether he will get a paying yield from the wheat, corn and potatoes that he puts into the ground than he has as to whether the next cyclone will blow his house into the lake or pass a few yards on the other side of it.

We, as a nation, have already, in the most wanton and reckless waste the world has ever known, changed our climatic conditions and wasted a good part of our splendid heritage. The question now facing us is whether we shall do all that lies in our power to save comfortable living conditions for ourselves and the spots of natural beauty that remain for our children."

Small as the supply in the United States now is, it is vastly in excess of the remaining stand in Canada, consequently this warning applies with double force to this Dominion.

I have no ambition to figure as a lone crusader. I have done what I could to call attention to conditions and to bring about an improvement. If the Canadian people do not want forest conservation, if the Government is so indifferent to the country's necessities and so derelict in its own duties, there is no earthly reason why I, or any other individual, should continue to exhaust my strength and give of my means to try to force upon them something they apparently do not want. This is why after much careful consideration and much searching of spirit I have decided to dispose of everything I own in Canada and join the trek to another country.

MADE IN CANADA

WHEAT FOR BILLION PEOPLE

CANADA CAN GROW SUFFICIENT WHEAT TO FEED EMPIRE

Professor George R. Anderson, Dean of the Faculty of Engineering, Physics and Photography at the University of Toronto, makes the prediction in an article recently published in the Morning Post of London, England, that Canada alone will raise sufficient wheat for over one billion people. A short resume of Prof. Anderson's article was sent by Canadian Press cable and published in part in the leading newspapers of Canada as follows: "Can Canada be surveyed without the conviction that 200,000,000 people can live there in greater prosperity than the 45,000,000 here?" Prof. Anderson asks.

"Prof. Anderson's article in the Morning Post is in refutation of gloomy forebodings indulged in by some of the scientists at the recent meeting in Toronto of the British Association for the advancement of Science with reference to the world's food supply ultimately being insufficient to feed the inhabitants of the earth."

CHORAL SOCIETY ELECT OFFICERS

Profiting by the experience of the past, the Red Deer Choral Society, at their re-organization meeting on Tuesday night, decided unanimously to organize on a very different footing for the present season. Membership will be limited to not more than about thirty-five, and these will be recruited by personal invitation from the Executive Committee, who, in making their selection, will be governed by considerations of balance, voice and proved faithfulness at practices in the past.

It was decided to ask each member of the Society to pay a subscription of $1.50 for the season. This was a compromise after some debating as to the amount. Tuesday night was fixed on as the night for rehearsals, and a place of meeting will be arranged for by the Executive Committee. Election of officers resulted in the re-election of all last year's officers and Executive with one or two exceptions. Mr. R. G. Thompson was nominated to fill the Executive vacancy caused by Mr. Mirtle's removal. Miss Gaetz will probably join the soprano section, Mrs. Johns replacing her as pianist. The present officers are as follows:—

Hon. President—R. L. Gaetz.
President—E. G. Johns
Sec'y-Treas.—Geo. W. Muir.
Conductor—Mrs. Dawe.
Pianist—Miss D. Gaetz.
Librarian—W. F. Harris.
Executive — Miss Ebert, Miss G. Smith, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Pearson, Mr. R. G. Thompson.

It is hoped to hold the first rehearsal on Tuesday, November 4.

NEW COMET DISCOVERED

A new comet, blazing across the sky two hours behind the sun, has been announced at the Harvard College Observatory.

It was discovered by the astronomer, Finsler, of Bonn, Germany, on September 15, was observed a day later at Berlin, and second confirmation of it came from Lick Observatory in word that it had been observed there.

As comets go, the new comet is a big one, being of the seventh magnitude, just short of being within the unaided vision of the eye. The reports indicated that it was growing brighter.

BRITISH ELECTIONS

Result of Vote Hard to Predict; 1422 Candidates

Number of Candidates

Conservatives	532
Labor	501
Liberals	342
Independents	12
Co-operatives	9
Communists	8
Liberal Conservatives	7
Constitutionals	7
Sinn Feiners	1
Nationalists	1
Prohibitionists	1
Christian Pacifist	1
Total	1422

London, October 20.—The 1422 candidates nominated for parliament Saturday comprise the following party classification: Conservatives, 532; Constitutionalists, 7; Liberals, 342; Laborites, 501; Co-operatives, 9; Communists, 8; Independents, 12; Republicans, 7; Sinn Fein, Nationalists, Prohibitionists and Christian Pacifists, one each.

A Christian Pacifist and a Liberal have been nominated for the University of Wales. This brings the total number of candidates to 1422.

Because of the large number of Liberal withdrawals there will be straight fights between Conservatives and Laborites in no less than 247 contests. Moreover, owing to last-hour party activity in nominating extra candidates, chiefly by the Labor party, there will be more triangular fights than was expected—227—distributed as follows: London, 33; English boroughs, 71; English counties, 104; with the remainder in Wales, Scotland and Ireland.

Hard to Predict

Thus three-cornered fights are distributed over the whole kingdom and make the outcome of the elections very difficult to predict.

There are 41 women candidates. Labor supplying a majority of them, 22 to be exact, while the Conservatives have nominated 12, the Liberals 6, and the Independents one. Lady Astor, the Duchess of Atholl, Lady Terrington and all the women members of the last parliament are seeking re-election. The other women candidates include many well known in the women's movement.

Lull in Campaign

There was a lull in the campaign over Sunday, affording an opportunity of reviewing the situation, which is noteworthy, first, for the growing confidence of the Conservative party in their coming back as the largest party in the house, even if not with an absolute majority, and second, for the frankness with which a new coalition government is canvassed in the press. When parliament was dissolved there was no hint given publicly by either the Liberal or Conservative press that such a move was contemplated.

Even now the attitude of the Conservative and Liberal leaders is that the arrangement made to withdraw candidates where triangular contests would give a chance for a Labor victory, were more in the form of local agreements, having no reference to any possible pact after the elections.

Labor's View

The Labor party denies that it is putting up candidates who have little or no chance of success simply for wrecking purposes, said a Labor official yesterday. He declared that ever since the Labor government came into office the party has been steadily building up its membership and its organization, especially in the rural areas, and it is part of the policy of the Labor party to put as many candidates in the field as possible.

"We may lose a few seats as the result of local pacts between Conservatives and Liberals," the official said, "but ultimately we shall win them back again. We are quite confident that we are going to increase the number of Labor members in parliament, and that the government will go back stronger than ever. There may be a net gain for Labor of 50 or 60 seats, and the result of the election October 29 will show a dwindling Liberal party and stronger Conservative and Labor parties, but neither will have a clear majority."

A Deep Game

Phillip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in a recent speech, said David Lloyd George was playing a deep political game and was out against Mr. Asquith as much as he pretended to be against the Labor party. Snowden predicted that if the Conservatives were returned with a small majority they would see the party led by David Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Lord Birkenhead. Mr. Asquith will be excluded from the counsels of the trio.

Stanley Baldwin, in his speech at Cardiff, said it was intolerable insolence to look to Russia for a gospel suitable for a progressive people who had fought for their rights eight centuries ago while the Russians had been given their freedom only within the lifetime of many people now living. It was Great Britain's duty to lead the world and not to follow anyone.

Mr. Baldwin referred to the election manifesto issue by the leaders of the trades union which mentioned "Constitutional rebellion." Those two words, together, he said, meant nothing. "You can no more speak of constitutional rebellion than you can speak of chilly hell," he added.

Canadians or those having connection with the Dominion nominated Saturday include Sir Hamar Green wood, who has followed his close friend, Winston Churchill, into the Conservative camp, although Sir Hamar prefers being described as an anti-Socialist. He is thought to have a fair chance of being elected in East Walthamstow, where he has both a Labor and a Liberal opponent.

Col. Angus MacDonnell, of Vancouver, who is attempting to regain Dartford, Kent, for the Conservative party, is now on his way from Canada. He will have a heavy task in this rural constituency which last December sent the Labor candidate, J. E. Mills, to parliament with a majority of nearly 3,000.

WANTED RABBITS

An illusionist performing in a northern town put a woman into a box from which was no apparent outlet and shut the lid. When he opened it again there was nothing inside but a couple of rabbits.

After the performance a Scotsman went to the illusionist and asked if he could perform the same trick if his (the Scotsman's) wife were to get into the box.

"Why, yes," answered the illusionist, humoring him. "But why are you anxious to get rid of your wife?"

"Weel," answered the Scot, "it's no sae much that, but wee Wullie got me tae promise him twa rabbits for his birthday!"

FRUIT TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION

Quick and Permanent Relief By Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

What a glorious feeling it is to be well! What a relief to be free of cathartics, salts, laxatives and purgatives that merely aggravate constipation and are so unpleasant to take and so weakening in their effect!

What a satisfaction to know that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes will absolutely and permanently relieve constipation. By a certain process, the juices of these fruits can be concentrated and combined with tonics—and it is these intensified fruit juices that correct constipation, relieve headaches and biliousness, and make you well and keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a box—or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

PREVENTING HEART DISEASE

You have often wondered just what was meant by heart disease, and have perhaps had the idea that it was something that was part of one's make up when he was born.

Perhaps you have also thought that some heavy work, some extreme athletic test has produced it.

Now, as I mentioned once before, the little fleshy pieces of tissue that close the opening in the heart get inflamed, just like an inflammation anywhere else in the body. When the inflammation subsides these valves, as they are called, have some of their natural tissue replaced by hard fibrous tissue, just like the scar tissue that remains after a burn.

This means that instead of being a small rounded valve fitting into its opening completely, the scar tissue causes some "puckering" of the edges, and through those little puckerings the blood flows back into the chamber from whence it just came—a leaky pump, as it were. Now, if your heart muscle grows strong again, as it should, Nature enables you to get along all right, just the same as you use a leaky pump, perhaps for years.

That is for all ordinary purposes you should get along, and live as long as the other fellow.

But if in addition to the leaky valves, the heart muscle is weak, then when a severe illness comes along you'll have a hard time.

Now what is my thought?

Why not try to prevent heart disease?

How?

Well, your doctor will tell you that most cases of heart disease come along very quietly, and without much discomfort at first. A sore throat, bad tonsils, bad teeth, some nose ailment, or even intestinal disturbance is usually the cause of trouble. If youngsters begin to have some growing pains, or you have some rheumatic pains, don't forget to let your doctor examine the heart.

A little rest at this time, with nourishing food, and light exercise later in the form of walking, will prevent heart disease very often.

ONLY MAKING A BEGINNING

Seed Selection and Proper Tillage Increases Yield Per Acre

For twenty-nine years, experiments have been carried on at the Guelph Agricultural College with fourteen varieties of winter wheat. Throughout this whole period an average yield has been secured of 44.5 bushels per acre, and the yield for the present year is 62.4 bushels. It may not be possible to equal or even to approximate this average return under field conditions there or elsewhere in Canada, with winter or spring wheat. But the achievement serves to illustrate the point that selection of breed and seed, and cultivation are factors which vitally affect production. Acreage is not by any means the thing which determines the possible size of the national crop, nor is it the weather conditions alone which keep the average yield one country over at a figure less than half that at the Guelph College.

It is a safe estimate that twice the amount of wheat could be grown on the same amount of land that is now cropped in Canada if there was a better selection of varieties and a more scientific handling of the operations. Canada is already a great wheat-producing country. But its possibilities in that direction are only in the process of development. And the settlement of land now unused is not the only way by which the present returns can be multiplied. The soil and climate of the Dominion are capable of producing as many bushels of wheat per acre as the soil and climate of England, and will do it when like methods of farming are evolved under pressure of increasing population. As a wheat-producing country Canada is as yet only demonstrating what it can do when the occasion requires.

A MAN EATING TREE

"If you can imagine a pineapple eight feet high and thick in proportion at its base," said Mr. Salmon S. Chase, the explorer, when talking about a man-eating tree encountered on his travels in Madagascar, "you will have a good idea of the trunk—with a series of long hairy green tendrils (palpi) stretched out in every direction.

My observations were interrupted by the natives, who had been shrieking around the tree with their shrill voices, and chanting what I was told were propitiatory hymns to the great tree devil.

"With still wilder shrieks and chants they now surrounded one of the women, and urged her with the points of their javelins, until slowly and despairingly she climbed up the stalk and stood on the summit of the cone, the palpi twirling about her.

"The slender palpi quivered a moment over her head, and then fastened upon her in sudden coils round her neck and arms."

INSUPERABLE OBSTACLE

Mary Ann gave notice she was going to be married. Her mistress, slightly perturbed, said: "Of course I don't want to put any obstacle in the way of your getting married, but I wish it were possible for you to postpone it until I can get another maid." "Well, mum," Mary Ann replied, "I 'ardly think I know 'im well enough to ask 'im to put it off!"

SLUSH FUND CHARGES HOLD FIRST PLACE IN PUBLIC EYE

Major Interest in States Election Centres in Probe at Chicago

New York, October 18.—Major interest in the political campaign in the United States continued to centre today about the activities of the senate committee meeting in Chicago to investigate campaign expenses of the three major parties—Republicans, Democratic and Independent.

Charges of Senator La Follette, the Independent presidential candidate, that the Republican campaign organization has sought to raise a slush fund for use in the closing days of the campaign in doubtful states, became the specific subject under investigation by the committee today. The charge was denied yesterday by three major parties—Republican, national committee.

Walsh to Testify

Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, to whom Senator La Follette has turned over information on which he based his allegations, was to testify today.

According to information which reached Senator La Follette, practically all of the alleged slush funds were to have been raised in the east and Mr. Walsh said he would suggest that the committee transfer its hearings to Washington on that account. Senator La Follette announced today he would spend the last two weeks of the campaign stumping in the Middle West and East instead of going to the Pacific coast.

Rest for La Follette

The Wisconsin senator delivered a campaign speech at Sioux Falls, S.D., last night, and rested today, preparatory to moving on to Omaha, Nebr., for a speech Monday night.

After three days of intensive campaigning in Illinois, John W. Davis returned today in Missouri. Before delivering tonight at St. Louis what he plans to be one of the major speeches in his fight for the presidency, the Democratic candidate will motor this afternoon to East St. Louis for his farewell address on Illinois soil.

Three Addresses

Dashing from district to district in the foreign quarter in Chicago last night, Mr. Davis delivered three addresses in the course of which he defined his conception of the process of making United States citizens.

He declared that equality of rights "attaches the very moment when any man or woman lands on american soil to cast his lot among us."

It was announced today that President Coolidge expects to call in the near future a conference on agriculture, which will be the first step in his proposed investigation of farming conditions by a special commission. Some farm leaders who already have conferred with the president have advised him that organization of the commission be delayed until after the election, lest the work become involved in politics.

UNDER THE WHEELS

In eighteen months of the World War, 48,000 American soldiers were killed upon the battlefields of France. In the same length of time 96,000 people have been killed by automobiles in the streets and highways of North America.

Of this vast number, 23,000 were little children!

No one can say, in view of these terrible figures, that everything possible is being done to lessen the toll from automobile accidents.—Montreal Herald.

MARRYING AGE OF PRINCES

The Prince of Wales has succeeded in passing his thirtieth milestone, still a bachelor. This achievement on his part makes it interesting to note the marrying age of the Heir-Apparent in the past. His father, King George, was 28 on his marriage, and his grandfather, King Edward, married at 22. But William IV., who succeeded Queen Victoria, was not married till he was 53. Predecessor, George IV., married when 33, but George III. had ascended the throne when his marriage took place at the age of 23.

ALBERTA BUTTER FOR BRITISH MARKET

A consignment of 15,000 pounds of Alberta butter left Vancouver recently for the British markets. The shipment consisted of unsalted butter, being the first of this kind which has been sent over. Another consignment of 200,000 pounds from the province is awaiting shipment at Vancouver.

We think Murray McKinnon and John White ought to belong to our community club, and we are going to make them honorary members. A week ago Friday they organized a bee and gathered in the entire crop of W. Grier, who is sick with pneumonia. That is the real community spirit, and every person that helped is due to the thanks of the whole community.

John Malcolm and C. T. Elline returned from the trip to the wells of the Red Deer-Sunburst Oils, Ltd., last week end. Mr. Malcolm states that he was greatly struck with the prospects and with what the company had already achieved. He had had no idea of the development that had taken place in that oil field and states that just to see the forest of derricks and works and the oil running around on the ground, was worth the trip. Charlie Elline was unlucky enough to step into a drain in the dark while showing Mr. Malcolm around. He gave his leg a severe wrench and also hurt his neck and side, but considers that he got off very lucky.
